Raw Commits:

- 2026-02-19 09:48:31: Add generated PDF report and update summary prompt Add a ReportLab-generated PDF report at reports/20260219_094703_summary.pdf. Update summarize_commits prompt in summary.py to request an English, management-friendly summary (avoid code jargon), summarize last week's progress without omitting important information, and append a short text with a specified list of quick numbers achieved this week.
- 2026-02-19 09:38:49: Create 20260219_093801_summary.pdf
- 2026-02-19 09:35:16: Improve PDF summary layout and add reports Add generated PDF reports under reports/ and enhance PDF export in summary.py. Changes: filename now includes timestamp (YYYYMMDD_HHMMSS), introduce report title and generation timestamp, add section headers and divider, implement page footer with page numbers and proper pagination, tweak fonts, spacing and wrapping to better fit pages, and ensure reports directory exists. Also include two new PDF files (reports/20260219_091428_summary.pdf and reports/20260219_summary.pdf) produced by the updated exporter.
- 2026-02-18 15:57:06: added new report
- 2026-02-18 15:55:42: Wrap PDF report text and add margins

Import textwrap and add line-wrapping and consistent margins to the PDF report generator. Compute a margin and an approximate max_line_width for Helvetica 12, wrap summary and raw commit lines so long lines don't overflow, and update y-start positions and page-break checks to use the margin. Adjust header spacing and reapply fonts after new pages to maintain layout.
- 2026-02-18 15:51:06: Save summary and raw commits as PDF
Add generated PDF reports and update PDF export to include raw commits. summary.py: import os, change save_summary_pdf signature to accept raw_commits, ensure reports directory exists, write file into reports/, add bold "Summary:" and "Raw Commits:" headings, adjust fonts and pagination, and pass raw commits from __main__. Also add generated PDF files (20260218_summary.pdf and reports/20260218_summary.pdf).
